JUST KEEP SWIMMING

Our family has tried to do "Chill and Grill" night every Saturday for years. It doesn't always work but we try and be persistent in making it happen. The idea is that we gather as a family have a meal and do something like a board game or movie. Looking back, I would say that a movie is chosen about 90% of the time. Our family loves a good movie, it often is the go-to for the occasion

Now, the movies have changed a bit over the years, but the time is still so wonderful. One of the reasons I love movies is because you can grab some pretty incredible life lessons from them. I realise not all movies give good life lessons, as a matter of fact some give pretty negative direction. We try to make sure and watch movies that will instill principals that match our lifestyle and our Godly convictions, No, we haven't always got it right, but even that can be a learning experience.

Last night I woke up with a song from a movie that I haven't watched in years. The movie is about a dad in search of his son. His son has been swept away at sea, and this father is in a deep panic to find him. He doesn't have much to go on except a scuba mask that says: P Sherman 42 Wallaby Way, Sydney. You might know this movie; it is called Finding Nemo. It is a great little flick.

There is one part where the dad is trying to search for his son and is struggling to keep looking and Dory (the wonderful little sidekick) sings him this song:

Hey Mr. Grumpy gills

Life's full of little spills

Don't throw your fins up in disgust

Oh, what's the use of floatin' there

Not going anywhere

Swish your tail

And dive on in

And trust.....

That... if you..

Just keep swimming

Just keep swimming

Life isn't all that grim

Just keep swimming

Just keep swimming

Everything will be okay

See? - Just keep swimming

Move your tail

And sure, enough we'll find our way.

Just keep swimming, that is what I woke up with in my mind during the middle of the night last night. Life can get quite challenging. As a follower of Jesus, we are assured, by Christ himself, that problems will come our way. "I have told you these things, so that in me you may have peace. In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world." John 16:33. I would go as far as saying that as a believer we face more difficulty, certainly in the form of persecution and worldly disconnect than non-believers. However, our Good Shepherd tells us we should have peace. Why? Because He has overcome the world and He will give us all we need to endure whatever we face. We have to just keep swimming. Living by faith isn't easy, but it is possible when your faith is in Christ Jesus. We experience incredible peace in chaos, wonderful joy despite struggles and hope when nothing seems hopeful. This is because of the faith we hold on to, our faith in Jesus our Good Shepherd.

This Sunday we are going to talk about the importance of persevering despite the problems we may face. In the words of Dory, we want to learn to Just Keep Swimming.

See ya Sunday,
Pastor Brent

Diary of a Church Mouse...

Ferdinand

I love a good story. I love a good book. Some people love a good story shown in a movie. Up on the silver screen...the story coming to life!

Recently in one of the services Riley and Holly came up and shared that they were launching a movie that they had been part of making. I have watched them both work before as they have done some filming around the church during the week. Wow! I never thought it was so technical and involved. There is lights, different cameras, board things that go snap, a multitude of people and props just to get one little shot. There is so much that goes into a one-second image. Not to mention all the thought that goes into the whole idea beforehand. Holly and Riley have an amazing gift of seeing things in a different way and relaying them through the media of film. Their latest offering "Inheritance" is a short film that tells the story of the Prodigal son. I know you have all heard the story before from the Bible. This modern retelling shows it beautifully. A group of people from the church went and saw the premier up at YWAM a few weeks ago (I heard a few of the young men dressed up for the night and wore suits!) I am sure you will be impressed (by the film, not the young men!). You can check it out on you-tube – @

In Kid's Ministry this term our theme is called "Bible Basics." The 8 lessons have as a theme the idea that soldiers train and train in order to find themselves ready for whatever situation they find themselves in. They start out in Basic Training, where they lay the foundation for their career as soldiers. We can use God's word to help us train so that we can live for God. This series will teach kids 8 important Bible Basics to lay the foundation for a lifetime of faith. We are hoping to teach the children the names of the books of the New Testament this term and have provided a song to help them remember them. Our objective is for our kids will learn that we train with prayer and Bible study so that we can follow Jesus better. The verse we are learning is, "By using Scripture, the servant of God can be completely prepared to do every good thing." 2 Timothy 3:17

Here are the links to the two songs the children are learning as we praise God each Sunday.
